About

The purpose of the Common Terms Registry is to encourage and enable all stakeholders to use the same terms when describing the same user needs and preferences in the User Preference server.

The purpose, format and maintenance of the Common Terms Registry will be defined in more detail by ISO 24751 REVISION (now underway).

The Common Terms Registry contains items like the following:

Name, description and value range of a set of core terms used by the Cloud4All/GPII architecture -- users describe what needs and preferences they have and solutions declare what needs and preferences their settings cover.

For example, magnificationFactor would describe the magnification factor of a screen magnifier. By referring to this Common Term, it is ensured that users, solutions, etc., are referring to the same thing as well as ensuring the use of common units and value range.

Operators and conditions are stored in users' Cloud4All/GPII preference sets. Any operator and/or condition in a user's preference set is defined in the registry, to ensure that no ambiguity arises and that the definitions can be looked up in a single place.
